Year 5	Self-Image and Identity	Online Relationships	Online Reputation	Online Bullying	Managing Online Information	Health, Well-being and Lifestyle	Privacy and Security	Copyright and Ownership
	I can explain how identity online can be copied, modified or altered.	I can give examples of technology-specific forms of communication (e.g. emojis, memes and GIFs).	I can search for information about an individual online and summarise the information found.	I can recognise online bullying can be different to bullying in the physical world and can describe some of those differences.	I can explain the benefits and limitations of using different types of search technologies e.g. voice-activation search engine. I can explain how some technology can limit the information I am presented with.	I can describe ways technology can affect health and well-being both positively (e.g. mindfulness apps) and negatively.	I can explain what a strong password is and demonstrate how to create one.	I can assess and justify when it is acceptable to use the work of others
	I can demonstrate how to make responsible choices about having an online identity, depending on context.	I can explain that there are some people I communicate with online who may want to do me or my friends harm. I can recognise that this is not my / our fault.	I can describe ways that information about anyone online can be used by others to make judgments about an individual and why these may be incorrect	I can describe how what one person perceives as playful joking and teasing (including 'banter') might be experienced by others as bullying.	I can explain what is meant by 'being sceptical'; I can give examples of when and why it is important to be 'sceptical'.	I can describe some strategies, tips or advice to promote health and wellbeing with regards to technology.	I can explain how many free apps or services may read and share private information (e.g. friends, contacts, likes, images, videos, voice, messages, geolocation) with others.	I can give examples of content that is permitted to be reused and know how this content can be found online.
